COVERING 700+ STUDIOS

From small independents to the Hollywood majors, the Church Video License covers movies from a huge list of studios, including...

Are there any restrictions?

- >> You may show movies from any authorized studio/producer. To check if a studio is covered visit cvli.com
- >> You may take a collection during a movie event, but not charge an admission fee
- >> You may promote movie events internally to your church but not advertise specific titles externally

Can we use YouTube?

The Church Video License permits you to show movie scenes from authorized studios via video-sharing websites such as YouTube provided the scene has been uploaded by an official source.

For a video/movie scene not authorized by the Church Video License, CCLI recommends that you seek the direct permission of the copyright owner before showing it in public.

What's the cost?

The Church Video License is available as an annual or 7-day event license. For license fees visit: cvli.com
